Re: Joint Ex-Parte Comment for CC Docket No. 96-128 (“Wright Petition”)

Dear Secretary Dortch,

We, the undersigned, are contacting you in reference to CC Docket No. 96-128 (“Wright Petition”). We urge the FCC to take action and address the high cost of interstate prison phone rates, which falls within the FCC’s jurisdiction.

The Center for Media Justice and the Media Action Grassroots Network joined forces with Participant Media and AFFRM, the African American Film Festival Releasing Movement, for the Social Action Campaign for the critically acclaimed feature film Middle Of Nowhere in October 2012. As the film deals with the challenges faced by a young wife when her husband is incarcerated, the Social Action campaign, titled “The Wright To Call Home” focuses on helping families stay connected with loved ones in prison. At the center of the campaign is a petition urging the FCC to pass CC Docket No. 96-128. The Center for Media Justice collaborated with other non-profit and faith-based organizations to urge audiences to take action and sign this petition as the first step in helping curb predatory prison phone rates. The campaign has been recognized and praised by Angela Bassett, Kerry Washington, Jason Mewes and other high-profile figures.

For some families, a typical 15-minute call can cost more than $17. Studies reveal that phone contact while in prison helps secure employment, social networks and housing upon prisoner release and families should not be punished for the crimes they did not commit.

We, the undersigned, believe keeping incarcerated individuals and families in contact is a national priority and urge the FCC to follow its mandate and ensure “reasonable rates” for consumers in the telecommunications market by capping interstate prison phone call rates.

Sincerely,

The Undersigned
